Student Activities (A10)

"The Office of Student Activities coordinates and implements a comprehensive cultural, educational, recreational and social co-curricular program that contributes to the University's primary mission of undergraduate liberal arts education." More specifically, it assists on the planning and support of student-initiated co-curricular activities, works with students in the development of "interpersonal and leadership skills," supports the Campus Activities Council in the planning and administering of campus events, provides budgetary and programing support for student organizations, works with Activities Fee Review Committee and provides that group with "guidance, assistance and administrative support," plans and coordinates orientation activities for incoming students and their parents, and in general furthers the development of student-center-related activities. The director of the office reports to the Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs. The office has played a vital role throughout the history of the campus in supporting student organizations and assisting in the planning, financing and administering of student social and cultural activities. Of special significance was the role the office played in the late 1980s and early 1990s in the construction of the new Student Center on campus.

During the first years of college study Student Activities was casually organized. The Annual Report from 1964-65 lists D.L. Hegle as a "Senior Student Personnel Worker" who was apparently in charge of the office. Its purpose was "to advise Morris Campus Student Association..., to work with the MCSA (Morris Campus Student Association" in preparing budgets and in conducting leadership seminars, "to advise and consult with the Student Union and other campus organizations on scheduling social, cultural and recreational programs...", to maintain a list of student organizations and oversee their finances...." The Student Union Board, the parent of the current Campus Activities Council, seems to have been casually organized and labored under a "poorly understood charge," and it gave way in the spring of 1966 to a newly formed Morris Campus Union Board. The logic of the reorganization was to create a "total campus union." The new organization included members of the faculty and administration, however, it was stipulated that a student would remain as chair and that students would continue to constitute the majority of the board. MCUB was restructured again in the 1967-68 school year. In the middle 1980s the Morris Campus Union Board was again reorganized and became the Campus Activities Council (CAC).

The Student Activities Office was in the first decades of the campus connected to Student Affairs Committee, and it provided administrative support to the committee and assisted in collecting data and implementing policies. With the revision of the Campus Assembly Constitution in 1983 the Student Affairs Committee gave way to the Student Services Committee.

In 1968-69 Gary McGrath became the "Director of Student Activities" (before this John Blasingame was listed as "Senior Student: Personnel Worker.") Stephen Granger took over for McGrath in '72-'73. In '73-'74 Douglas F. Smith replaced Granger and was named director. Smith resigned in May 1975 and was replaced by Robert G. Rodda. Mary Hicks replaced Rodda in '78-'79. Hicks left in December '81 and in April '82 was replaced by Tom Wojciechowski. He left in November '85 and was replaced by existing staff for the remainder of the academic year. The administration decided the following year to merge Student Activities into Student Life. Dave Aronson was in charge of student life and Sandy Olson-Loy was "Assistant Director for Student Activities." This arrangement ended after the 1992-93 academic year. Olson-Loy then became the "Director of Student Activities." In 1999-00 Olson-Loy became Interim Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs (October 1999). Haugen became acting Director of Student Activities, although she devoted 1/3 of her time to the Commission on Women. David Swenson was hired in 2004-5.

The record group, Student Activities, is divided into two discrete series. The first, "General Files," consists of administrative records of the Student Activities Office. These materials are reflective of student life on campus: clubs, fraternities, other student organizations, as well as the history of concerts, films, convocations and other sorts of cultural activities. These records, in addition, speak to campus governance and especially to the role of students in governance. The files for the Activities Fee Review Committee document the workings of that committee and its predecessor from the late 1960s until the early 2000s.

General Files (A10-A)

The General Files of Student Activities is organized as a record sub-group within the larger Student Activities record group. The materials date back to the establishment of the college and include a broad range of materials reflective of student life and campus culture. Of special interest are the materials on KUMM, the student-operated radio station, contained in Box 1. The Morris Campus Union minutes and miscellaneous papers are filed in the same box. Records from the Student Services Committee materials are contained in Box 2. Morris Campus Student Association (MCSA) election results can be found in Box 3. Boxes 4 and 5 hold records relevant to the construction of the Student Center, and these, in turn, have to do with fund-raising, artwork, room naming, the Center's dedication, etc.

Also of note are records from the "Student Affairs Committee" and the Morris Campus Union Board (MCUB); these materials reflect club life and campus cultural life in the 1960s and 1970s (Boxes 8 through 11).

Box 11 also holds a file of pamphlets and brochures including a 1962 Student Handbook. Of further interest is the file of materials--again pamphlets and brochures--from the Performing Arts Committee (PAC) for the 1970s and 1980s. The file labeled "Policies--Alcohol, Pre '94" in Box 12 is also worth noting. Of related interest here is the file, "Student Activities--Flatlands," which documents the demise of this short-lived annual event (Box 13). In the same box is a file, "Policy--Campus Demonstrations" from the 1968-69. Box 14 contains audio and video tapes of convocations mostly from 1990s and early 2000s and a number of files from late 1980s and early 1990s on First Year Experience Committee (FYE Committee) and orientation. Finally, Box 15 contains files on Saddle Club from 1971-72 through the 1990s.

Materials include: agendas, audio-video materials, brochures and pamphlets, correspondence, minutes, newspapers, reports, etc.
