

1978

Fifth Annual Midwest Philosophy Colloquium, 1978-1979

University of Minnesota - Morris. Philosophy Department

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.morris.umn.edu/philosophy_colloquium

Recommended Citation

University of Minnesota - Morris. Philosophy Department, "Fifth Annual Midwest Philosophy Colloquium, 1978-1979" (1978). Midwest Philosophy Colloquium. 8.
https://digitalcommons.morris.umn.edu/philosophy_colloquium/8

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the UMM Archives at University of Minnesota Morris Digital Well. It has been accepted for inclusion in Midwest Philosophy Colloquium by an authorized administrator of University of Minnesota Morris Digital Well. For more information, please contact skulann@morris.umn.edu.

The Fifth Annual Midwest Philosophy Colloquium

1978-79 At The University of Minnesota, Morris

Epistemology

and

a related series of evening lectures under the general title

"Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society"

Schedule:

October 4-5, 1978	Robert Audi, University of Nebraska
April 4-5, 1979	Jonathan Bennett, University of British Columbia
May 2-3, 1979	Alvin Goldman, University of Michigan
May 16-17, 1979	David Kaplan, UCLA

Each philosopher will conduct a series of afternoon seminars in epistemology, usually related to the topic of his paper to be published in Midwest Studies in Philosophy, Volume V, "Studies in Epistemology," and deliver one evening general interest lecture. The Colloquium sessions are made possible through the support of the Office of the Academic Dean, University of Minnesota, Morris, and the Division of Humanities.

The evening lectures, "Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society" are made possible through the support of the Minnesota Humanities Commission in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Topics of paper, locations, and other information concerning all events will be distributed periodically.

For further information write: Philosophy—Humanities Division
University of Minnesota, Morris
Morris, Minnesota 56267

The Fifth Annual Midwest Philosophy Colloquium

1978-79 At The University of Minnesota, Morris

Epistemology

and

a related series of evening lectures under the general title

"Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society"

October 4-5, 1978

Robert Audi

University of Nebraska

- October 4: 3:00 p.m.-4:30 p.m. Seminar in Epistemology
"Defeated Knowledge, Reliability, and Justification" Part I
Behmler Conference Room
- 8:00 p.m. "Philosophy and Public Policy"
HFA Recital Hall
- October 5: 2:00-4:00 p.m. Seminar in Epistemology
"Defeated Knowledge, Reliability, and Justification" Part II
Behmler Conference Room

Papers which form the basis of the afternoon seminars will be published, together with other solicited papers, in Midwest Studies in Philosophy, Volume V, "Studies in Epistemology." The Colloquium sessions are made possible through the support of the Office of the Academic Dean, University of Minnesota, Morris, and the Division of Humanities.

The evening lectures, "Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society" are made possible through the support of the Minnesota Humanities Commission in cooperation with the national Endowment for the Humanities.

For further information write: Philosophy—Humanities Division
University of Minnesota, Morris
Morris, Minnesota 56267

The Fifth Annual Midwest Philosophy Colloquium

1978-79 At The University of Minnesota, Morris

Epistemology

and

a related series of evening lectures under the general title

“Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society”

April 4-5, 1979

Jonathan Bennett

University of British Columbia

April 4: 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. Seminar
“Extended Substances” Part I
Behmler Conference Room

8:00 p.m. “Why I Love Spinoza’s Philosophy”
HFA Recital Hall

April 5: 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. Seminar
“Extended Substances” Part II
Behmler Conference Room

Papers which form the basis of the afternoon seminars will be published, together with other solicited papers, in Midwest Studies in Philosophy, Volume V, “Studies in Epistemology.” The Colloquium sessions are made possible through the support of the Office of the Academic Dean, University of Minnesota, Morris, and the Division of Humanities.

The evening lectures, “Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society” are made possible through the support of the Minnesota Humanities Commission in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Humanities.

For further information write: Philosophy—Humanities Division
University of Minnesota, Morris
Morris, Minnesota 56267

The Fifth Annual Midwest Philosophy Colloquium

1978-79 At The University of Minnesota, Morris

Epistemology

and

a related series of evening lectures under the general title

"Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society"

May 2-3, 1979

Alvin I. Goldman

University of Michigan

May 2: 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. Seminar
"What is Justified Belief?"
Briggs Library 360

8:00 p.m. "Are My Actions Predictable?"
HFA Recital Hall

May 3: 1:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. Seminar
"The Internalist Conception of Justification"
Briggs Library 360

Papers which form the basis of the afternoon seminars will be published, together with other solicited papers, in Midwest Studies in Philosophy, Volume V, "Studies in Epistemology." The Colloquium sessions are made possible through the support of the Office of the Academic Dean, University of Minnesota, Morris, and the Division of Humanities.

The evening lectures, "Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society" are made possible through the support of the Minnesota Humanities Commission in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Humanities.

For further information write: Philosophy—Humanities Division
University of Minnesota, Morris
Morris, Minnesota 56267

The Fifth Annual Midwest Philosophy Colloquium

1978-79 At The University of Minnesota, Morris

Epistemology

and

a related series of evening lectures under the general title

"Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society"

May 16-17, 1979

David Kaplan

UCLA

May 16: 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. Seminar
"An Introduction to the Theory of Indexicals"
Briggs Library 360

8:00 p.m. "Reasoning: It Isn't Obvious"
HFA Recital Hall

May 17: 1:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. Seminar
"Further Remarks on Indexicals"
Briggs Library 360

Papers which form the basis of the afternoon seminars will be published, together with other solicited papers, in Midwest Studies in Philosophy, Volume V, "Studies in Epistemology." The Colloquium sessions are made possible through the support of the Office of the Academic Dean, University of Minnesota, Morris, and the Division of Humanities.

The evening lectures, "Why Philosophy? The Value of Philosophy in a Technocratic Society" are made possible through the support of the Minnesota Humanities Commission in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Humanities.

For further information write: Philosophy—Humanities Division
University of Minnesota, Morris
Morris, Minnesota 56267