Anthropology Updated Version of PSLOs:

1. Students will be able to contextualize people's perspectives with consideration of their cultural background and power differences based on gender, ethnicity, historical context, etc.
2. Students will be able to apply an anthropological, multicultural lens to past and present communities
3. Students will be able to gather, analyze, and effectively communicate data from at least one subfield of anthropology
4. Students will be able to apply accepted ethical standards to anthropological research contexts.
5. Students will be able to describe the reality of human cultural and biological diversity and how that differs from historical, popular, or political stereotypes and mischaracterizations of human nature
