Accomplishments

Todd A. Olson ’83 and Dr. Richard Wehseler ’91 have received the 2015 University of Minnesota, Morris Alumni Association Distinguished Alumni Award. The award honors alumni who make noteworthy contributions in their professional lives, in public service, or in service to the University of Minnesota.

The University of Minnesota, Morris will be listed on the US EPA ENERGY STAR website for its pledge to the ENERGY STAR Low Carbon IT Campaign. In addition to saving energy and money, the campus’s commitment encourages others to save energy, ultimately reducing global warming.

Troy Goodnough, sustainability director, will meet with Kathryn Sullivan Montovan ’05 and her colleagues and students at Bennington College in Vermont. Goodnough will deliver two public talks and host workshops about the progress Morris has made to become a more sustainable campus and learn more about Bennington's efforts. He also will discuss models for changemaking and sustainability leadership.
Natalie Hoidal ’15, Forest Lake, Anna Pratt ’15, Shoreview, Rachel Brockamp ’17, Bruno, Megan Forcia ’18, New Brighton, Sophie Bishop ’17, Zimmerman, Minnesota GreenCorps member Faith Bradley, and Sustainability Director Troy Goodnough attended the 2015 Student Engagement Leadership Forum on Sustainability, held April 24–25 on the Crookston campus. Students presented on their efforts to make sustainable change on campus and in the community.

In the News

The University of Minnesota, Morris is featured on the Minnesota Pollution Control website. The campus is noted for its “winning approach to recycling” in sports facilities.

Morris also is mentioned in a recent editorial by the Minnesota Daily’s editorial board. The article discusses the Minnesota House of Representatives’ higher education omnibus bill, which proposed to boost state funding for the University of Minnesota’s Morris and Crookston campuses.

Chancellor Jacqueline R. Johnson appeared on KMRS/KKOK’s Community Connection on Monday, May 4.

Sophie Bishop ’17, Zimmerman, Anna Pratt ’15, Shoreview, and Troy Goodnough, sustainability director, are quoted in a story by the Morris Sun Tribune. The story discusses work being done in Stevens County related to climate change and public awareness.

Jennifer Rothchild, associate professor of sociology, Chris Butler, teaching specialist, and Satis Devkota, assistant professor of economics, recently discussed the impact of the Nepal earthquake with the Morris Sun Tribune. All three faculty members have deep personal and professional connections to the country.
