Commented [MW1]: When was this from? This year’s event? If so, this should be moved up under your “Updated Community of Scholars” bullet. Or if this is questions, maybe add a bullet heading that is ‘Questions’

Commented [JRT2R1]:

- Revamped Campus Ambassador programs
 - Coordination between tour guides, overnight hosts, panelists, and students who go back to schools or share their Morris experience
 - Extensive training and cross-training
- *Overview of 10 year comparison – Application and offer numbers are down slightly from previous years but are composed of more first-source applications, increasing the potential for higher deposit rates. At this early point in the admissions cycle deposits look solid for fall 2018.
- *There was a questions asked about what admissions is doing to help improve the retention of students. Zych Herrmann responded that the primary objective when reviewing applicants for admission is to look for indicators of success in college. Many factors beyond academic preparation, including the experience they have once they enroll at Morris, can contribute to student persistence in college but those factors aren't always known or measurable for most applicants.
- There was a question on the training of the tour guides and Jen stated that the tour guides do get ongoing training 3-4 times a year in addition to the extensive information they must learn during their initial training, shadow tours and check-off tours.

3. Reminder of the Finance Academy on campus today.

4. Members were asked to submit questions to Roger as to what information we wanted from Melissa Bert when she presents at the next Finance Meeting.

Next meeting April 17th - The meeting was adjourned.
