Present: Roland Guyotte (chair), Leslie Meek, Judy Korn, Brenda Boever, Jennifer Goodnough, Ray Schultz, Steve Gross, Joe Beaver, Dan Magner, Merc Chasman, Emma Kloos, Josiah Gregg, Parker Smith, Ruby DeBellis, and Emily Trieu

1. Approve minutes of February 9, 2017, meeting

Approved as amended

2. Chair's Report

Ray Lagasse and Nancy Pederson have been invited to present the annual International Student Program report next week. Members were asked to send questions for Ray Lagasse in advance to Judy Korn. Angie Senger will send members the minutes from the last international student report to assist members in formulating questions.

3. SCEP Report

Jennifer Goodnough was asked and accepted to chair SCEP next year. Goodnough sent a note to Sue Wick, current SCEP chair, requesting clarification on who was invited to the liberal education forum as the information provided during last week's meeting was very vague. Goodnough would like to ensure the appropriate people are included.

Goodnough sent a note to Sandy Olson-Loy and Kitty Mahoney inquiring whether they would like to make a request to the Campus Assembly Steering Committee for formal time to discuss the Makeup policy.

4. CLEP review

Korn provided a review of CLEP exams and their acceptance at other colleges and universities (Addendum One). CLEP exams are widely used, but are not used nearly as often as AP exams at Morris. Students study independently (no course involved) and can take the exam when they feel ready. If students have previous experience in a subject they can take a CLEP exam to demonstrate their knowledge and earn credit. The Office of the Registrar has found no evidence to show that CLEP exams are being misused, but has seen on various occasions how useful they can be for students who need credits to finish degree requirements.

With the exception of one case, there has not been a problem accepting CLEP exams that would affect many students or disciplines. A perceived problem with CLEP credits and transfer credits in general is students completing a degree with little work done on campus. Another concern with students entering with a large number of credits and those who have completed their general education requirements elsewhere is that they would be losing the liberal arts piece of their degree. However, the Residency policy protects the University and requires all students earn at least 30 semester credits at the awarding campus; 15 of the last 30 credits must be from the awarding campus; and at least half of the upper-division credits for the major be completed at the awarding campus. If there are concerns with students not spending enough time on campus, members suggested reviewing the Residency policy or reviewing rules regarding the general education requirements. These concerns should be addressed by reviewing the appropriate policies/rules rather than restricting CLEP.

Leslie Meek noted that she earned a full quarter's worth of credits through CLEP and as a nontraditional student she found it very helpful.

Student members also support accepting CLEP and other credit by exams. They feel that credit by exam options allow them to pursue another major or add a minor. The data does support the idea that students utilizing CLEP are those who want to do more such as add a major, add a minor, or study abroad.

5. Nationally Recognized Exam statement

Korn was asked to draft a Scholastic Committee statement (Addendum Two) in response to discussions concerning prior learning credit for nationally recognized exams after a student who had completed a significant number of credits through nationally recognized exams earned a Morris degree. There was concern by some parties that students could earn a Morris degree without having to be on campus. Since the transfer policy has now been updated, those types of credits would not be applicable until a student becomes a degree-seeking student. The SC found no evidence of students abusing the use of prior learning credit and recommends no changes be made on account of one student.

The SC reviews transfer credits and makes decisions for acceptance. The disciplines review transfer credit for substitution and use in the major. AP and IB courses are reviewed every six years and A Level exams every three years for changes to content. If there are changes to the content for AP and IB exams Korn is notified. The disciplines also review AP and IB approximately every six years to confirm their evaluations are still valid.

Members suggested adding the definition of nationally recognized exams and a link to the SC credit by examinations webpage to the statement.

If credit is not accepted by the transfer specialist, a student does have the right to appeal to the whole SC.

Credits from nationally recognized exams do affect financial aid once they appear on the student's record. Once on a student's record transfer credits cannot be removed. While some A Level exams can earn a higher number of credits it is unlikely a student will complete many exams due to the time required for each exam. Four is the most common number of exams completed by one student. Therefore, unlike AP credits it would be difficult to accumulate a lot of credits from A Level exams. Also, most students with A Level exams are international students, and they do not receive financial aid.

The motion to approve the statement as amended was approved unanimously.

Respectfully submitted,

Angie Senger
Office of the Registrar

Addendum Two:

Scholastic Committee statement on prior learning credit for nationally recognized exams

2.16.17

Committee charge:

The Scholastic Committee (SC) develops, reviews, and recommends policies affecting the quality of education. It is concerned with such matters as admissions, academic progress, academic advising, student academic honesty, scholarship, and graduation. It has the power to grant exceptions to academic regulations when the spirit of such regulations has been satisfied. The committee admits students and evaluates transfer credit in accordance with standards established by the campus assembly.

Statement:

The SC recommends no changes to the current practice of accepting prior learning credit for nationally recognized exams (Advanced Placement [AP], International Baccalaureate [IB], A Level, College Level Examination Program [CLEP]) because...

- ...students are not abusing the right to include credits from nationally recognized exams towards Morris degrees (<http://policy.umn.edu/education/creditexam>);
- ...University of Minnesota policy defines the credit requirements for earning a baccalaureate degree at the Morris campus (<http://policy.umn.edu/education/degreerequirement>). Students must complete the following minimum number of credits at the campus from which they expect to graduate before a degree will be granted:
 - To be eligible for a University undergraduate degree, a student must complete at least 30 semester credits awarded by the University campus from which he or she is seeking to graduate.
 - At least 15 credits of the last 30 credits earned prior to the awarding of a University degree, must be awarded by the University campus from which a student is seeking to graduate.
 - Students must complete at least half of upper-division major work (3XXX courses or higher) on the campus from which they are seeking to graduate. Study-abroad credits earned through programs sponsored by the University are considered resident credit.
 - In order to have a minor recorded on a University transcript, a student must take at least three upper division credits in the minor field at the campus from which he or she will receive the degree.;
- ...University of Minnesota policy also defines when transfer credits, including credits earned from nationally recognized exams, become applicable to a Morris degree program (<http://policy.umn.edu/education/transfercredit>):
 - Transfer credits become applicable to a University of Minnesota degree program or certificate program only after the student has been admitted as a degree-seeking student or admitted to the certificate program;
- ...timely graduation is an underlying foundational principle for undergraduate education at the University, and nationally recognized exams can impact students' successful progress towards a degree (<http://policy.umn.edu/education/timelygraduation>). Research conducted on student success confirms that new high school students who enter college with credits (including credits from exams) graduate within four years at a higher rate than those who enter college without credits;

- ...for CLEP in particular, a comparison between Morris CLEP and COPLAC colleges/Minnesota private liberal arts colleges shows that Morris acceptance practices are similar to the vast majority of comparison colleges.*
- ...for CLEP in particular, Morris receives very few exam scores. Between the 1999 and 2015 academic years, Morris received 110 exam scores (13 failed to meet Morris minimum scores) from 70 students for an average of less than seven satisfactory exam score submissions per year. Only two students during this time period have submitted more than one or two exam scores.
- ...as a public institution especially intent on serving first-generations students and underrepresented students, Morris should make available as many avenues for success as possible, and nationally recognized exams may for some students be an avenue;
- ...the Minnesota State Legislature supports nationally recognized exams through official legislation promoting these opportunities (<https://www.revisor.mn.gov/statutes/?id=120B.13>);
- ...students who submit nationally recognized scores to Morris but do not realize academic progress through the awarding of credits from those exam scores may be financially penalized through the Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) process.
