February Soup and Substance discussion on Religious Tolerance

Summary: The event pairs a free meal with meaningful discussion on February 21.

(February 6, 2012)-The University of Minnesota, Morris will host its monthly Soup & Substance discussion on February 21, 2012, at 6 p.m. in the Student Center's Alumni Room in Oyate Hall. The event provides an open forum for members of the campus and community to discuss issues of local, national, and international importance, particularly issues related to privilege and oppression. Soup & Substance pairs a delicious free meal with a meaningful discussion. The February gathering will address the issue of Religious Tolerance.

We will ponder such questions as, how well does UMM and the Morris community tolerate varying religious beliefs, or those who are not religious? For instance, do people of a variety of religious beliefs feel comfortable in Morris? At UMM? Does UMM provide accommodations for those who have specific practices or need particular religious holidays off? What about other employers in Morris? What is, or should be, the role of religion at a public, liberal arts college?

Soup & Substance, sponsored by the Office of Community Engagement, is open to all who wish to share their opinions and experiences. Discussions are always richer when community members are able to attend. Everyone is welcome to join the discussion and enjoy a free meal.
