Asking the Big Questions explores immigration in Minnesota

Summary: The topic is part of a yearlong series on Minnesota culture and history.

(October 13, 2011)-The monthly Asking the Big Questions campus/community discussion series will explore Minnesota culture and history during the 2011–12 academic year. You are invited to join a discussion on immigration and Minnesota on Thursday, October 20, at 7 p.m. in the Rodney Briggs Library's McGinnis Room. Stephen Gross, associate professor of history, will give a brief overview of how Minnesota was settled.

The Briggs Library, the History Discipline, and the Faculty Development Committee sponsor the discussion series. Refreshments are served at 6:30 p.m. Contact Peter Bremer, librarian, at 320-589-6173 with questions. Everyone is invited to attend.

Through personal and academic discovery, the University of Minnesota, Morris provides opportunities for students to grow intellectually, engage in community, experience environmental stewardship and celebrate diversity. A renewable and sustainable educational experience, Morris prepares graduates for careers, for advanced degrees, for lifelong learning, for work world flexibility in the future, and for global citizenship.
