Discipline/Division: Management

I. Introductory Statement:

This discipline is in the Division of the Social Sciences. It offers a multidisciplinary liberal arts-based program that allows students to enter the field of management as a professional or proceed to graduate studies.

II. Objectives:

The management curriculum focuses on those areas of human knowledge that concern the operation and control of business and nonprofit organizations. In addition to developing competence in analytical and core business areas, students majoring in the field are expected to learn to critically examine business and other institutions from a liberal arts perspective. Specifically, management students:

1. understand and use a variety of techniques to manage financial, human, and material resources
2. are able to critically conceptualize business problems and to develop appropriate strategies for problem solving
3. understand and use a variety of quantitative analysis techniques appropriate for business
4. develop collaborative skills
5. be competent in written and oral communication
6. develop competence in computer skills
7. are prepared for professional careers in business or public service, or for graduate studies
8. are able to see relationships between management and other liberal arts disciplines.

Requirements for a major include analytical, core, and requirements from a chosen area of emphasis.
