History Information:	"US Latin@" refers to people of Latin American ancestry in the United States, regardless of their gender identity. (Again, it's an alternative to the term US Latino, which some people see as gender-biased.) To get around this problem, in writing (particularly on the internet, in text messages, and in academic circles), people have begun to use the "@" --which looks like an "a" combined with an "o" to designate mixed or gender-neutral groups. It's similar to "s/he" in English, or "they" as a singular pronoun (i.e., "Each student will hand their paper in on time" instead of "Each student will hand his paper in on time").
Rationale for Changes or Exceptions:	NEW IC COURSE IN LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES.

Rationale for Changes or Exceptions:	THE VERSION OF 'WEIRD THINGS' I HAVE PLANNED FOR FALL 2015 IS SIGNIFICANTLY MORE CHALLENGING THAN ITS 2-CREDIT PREDECESSOR. I HAVE, FOR EXAMPLE, INCREASED THE AMOUNT OF REQUIRED READING AND HAVE ADDED EXCERPTS FROM (CHALLENGING) PRIMARY SOURCES. I HAVE ALSO ADDED DAILY NOTE-TAKING AND NOTE-REVISING EXERCISES. I WILL ALSO BE REQUIRING STUDENTS TO DO A CLASS PRESENTATION. I BELIEVE THAT THESE CHANGES WILL BETTER SERVE THE STUDENTS IN MY IC COURSES, AND AM CONFIDENT THAT THE PROPOSED 4-CREDIT VERSION OF 'WEIRD THINGS' WILL BETTER PROMOTE THE IC MISSION.

Multiple Course Revisions

This form is for presenting changes to Curriculum Committee; the information will still need to be entered in ECAS. Sending this form to Curriculum Committee for approval means Discipline and Division approval has been received.

Date: September 23, 2015
Discipline: Anthropology, History, Management, and Psychology
Curriculum Committee Approval Date: November 13, 2015

Course Revision #1

Give complete UMM catalog entry (deletions in strikethru font, additions underlined)

ANTH ~~2103~~ 1103. People of the Past: Introduction to Archaeology (SS; 4 cr; Fall, every year)
Survey of prehistoric and early historic cultures from around the world. Covers the development of hunting and gathering societies, origins of agriculture, and growth of urbanization and state-level societies. (~~two 65-minute lectures, one 120-minute lab session~~)

Rationale for change:

Change from 2xxx to 1xxx level course. Course has no prereq and serves as an introductory course, the course level should reflect that. Lab section is being dropped making this an entirely lecture-based course. Lab sections caused confusion - gen ed designator is SS but some students expected SCI-L credit. Dropping the time consuming labs will free up faculty time for additional Anth offerings.

Course Revision #2

Give complete UMM catalog entry (deletions in strikethru font, additions underlined)

ANTH ~~2101~~ 1201. Becoming Human: Introduction to Biological Anthropology. (SCI-L; 5 cr. A-F only; Spring, every year)
What is human nature, and how did we get this way? The class covers evolutionary theory, modern human biodiversity, our primate relatives, and human evolution. Includes a 90-minute lab session.

Rationale for change:

Change from 2xxx to 1xxx level course as course has no prereq. Additionally, the course has become a popular gen ed course, serving as an intro to the field for major and non-majors, its level should reflect it is an introductory course. FYI: Course to be scheduled for 16-17 (Spring).

Course Revision #3

Give complete UMM catalog entry (deletions in strikethru font, additions underlined)

ANTH ~~3206~~. Ecological Anthropology. (~~4 cr; prereq 1111 or 2103; fall, spring, offered periodically~~)
~~Exploration of human ecology and the causes and effects of environmental change, using data from archaeology, biological anthropology, and cultural anthropology. Emphasis on understanding the social and economic context of human adaptations to the environment. Examination of cultures worldwide and through time that have (or have failed to) live sustainably.~~

Rationale for change:

Inactivate Anth 3206. This course is being broken down into two separate and independent 2 credit courses - Health and Human Ecology (Anth 3251) and Environmental Archaeology (to be proposed at a later date.

Course Revision #4

Give complete UMM catalog entry (deletions in strikethru font, additions underlined)

HIST 2003. Public History. (HIST; 4-2 cr; spring, offered periodically)

Introduction to the many ways historians conduct research and present historical topics to public audiences. Public historians, who typically come from a traditional academic discipline, utilize their knowledge in such public settings as museums, archives, historic sites, historical societies, and federal agencies. Examine a number of themes ranging from oral histories and historical reenactments to websites and electronic media. Explore what is public history, who practices it, the role of audience, the tension between history and memory, and the ethical concerns that influence public history practice. ~~A particular emphasis is the representation of racial and ethnic communities and the controversies that have emerged in public history practice and scholarship about the representation of "the other."~~ Gain hands-on experience in facets of public history such as archival management and oral history.

Rationale for change:

Change course from 4 to 2 credits. This version of the course will focus less on theory and require less reading. Although theory, problems and issues in public history will still receive attention, the course will now emphasize practice, methods and hands-on application of public history.

Course Revision #5

Give complete UMM catalog entry (deletions in strikethru font, additions underlined)

MGMT 2101. Principles of Accounting I. (4 cr; fall, every year)

An introductory course in accounting principles and practices. The students develop an understanding of both the conceptual and procedural framework of the accounting processes. Emphasis is placed on the preparation and communication of accounting information and the financial statements for proprietorships and partnerships.

Rationale for change:

Slight change to the course description, more accurately reflecting course content.

Course Revision #6

Give complete UMM catalog entry (deletions in strikethru font, additions underlined)

MGMT 2102. Principles of Accounting II. (2 cr; prereq 2101; spring, every year)

A continuation of Principles of Accounting I. Students develop an understanding of the issues unique to ~~partnerships,~~ corporations, and organizational financing. Cash flow statements and performance analysis are also emphasized.

Rationale for change:

Remove one topic from course description covered in Mgmt 2101.

Course Revision #7

Give complete UMM catalog entry (deletions in strikethru font, additions underlined)

MGMT 3151. Human Resources Management I. (E/CR; 2 cr; prereq: 2101 or instr consent; fall, every year)

An introduction to the functional areas of human resource management through the use of case studies. Topics include legal issues, strategic and sustainability planning, recruitment, ~~training~~, evaluation, compensation, and benefits.

Rationale for change:

Revise course description to add sustainability component per EDP grant.

Course Revision #8

Give complete UMM catalog entry (deletions in strikethru font, additions underlined)

MGMT 3152. Human Resources Management II. (HDIV; 2 cr; prereq: 3151 or instr consent; fall, every year)

Topics in human resource management: evaluating employee performance, training and safety, sustainability and “lean manufacturing”, labor relations, and international human resource management.

Rationale for change:

Revise course description to add sustainability component per EDP grant.
