Dr. David Hunt will address Midwest Philosophy Colloquium

Summary:

(April 2, 2004)-If God knows his own future actions, how can God confront his own foreknown actions as an active initiator rather than a passive actor, and how could he use any of this knowledge, for instance, to change the future?

Dr. David Hunt, professor of philosophy at Whittier College, Whittier, Calif., will consider difficulties that divine foreknowledge raises for divine freedom and agency when he addresses the 28th Annual Midwest Philosophy Colloquium on the topic, "Is God a Fatalist?" Dr. Hunt will present his lecture at 7 p.m. Monday, April 19, at the Newman Catholic Center, 306 East 4th St., in Morris. The public is cordially invited.

Doctor Hunt will also present a paper, "Moral Responsibility and Buffered Alternatives," at 2:30 p.m. the same day in the Prairie Lounge of the UMM Student Center. This event is also open to the public.

These lectures are made possible by a grant from the Minnesota Humanities Commission in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Minnesota State Legislature, and the Office of the Vice Chancellor of Academic Affairs and Dean, UMM.
