

University of Minnesota Morris Digital Well

University of Minnesota Morris Digital Well

Campus News Archive

Campus News, Newsletters, and Events

10-21-2003

"Perspectives: Rural and Urban" is next Gallery exhibit

University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.morris.umn.edu/urel_news

Recommended Citation

University Relations, "'Perspectives: Rural and Urban" is next Gallery exhibit" (2003). Campus News Archive. 1909.

https://digitalcommons.morris.umn.edu/urel_news/1909

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Campus News, Newsletters, and Events at University of Minnesota Morris Digital Well. It has been accepted for inclusion in Campus News Archive by an authorized administrator of University of Minnesota Morris Digital Well. For more information, please contact skulann@morris.umn.edu.

Contact

Melissa Weber, Director of Communications
Phone: 320-589-6414, weberm@morris.umn.edu

Jenna Ray, Editor/Writer
Phone: 320-589-6068, jrray@morris.umn.edu

"Perspectives: Rural and Urban" is next Gallery exhibit

Summary:

(October 21, 2003)-The next exhibit in the University of Minnesota, Morris Gallery of Humanities Fine Arts, "Perspectives: Rural and Urban," brings together the work of two artists from opposite ends of the country, who also draw upon different environments for inspiration in their artwork.

A public reception from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 6, will open the exhibit, which will continue through December 6. Gallery hours are Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday, 1 to 5 p.m.

Andrea Hoelscher's work consists of a series of mural sized panoramic photographs, which she has titled "Inner Architectures." Hoelscher describes her photographs as "imaginary spaces that extend horizontally like the sweep of a person's eyes as they move around a building." She photographs buildings as a collector, borrowing from the broad range of architectural styles and surfaces to make her own world. Hoelscher then builds these new spaces digitally by placing portions of the buildings and interiors side-by-side and allowing the viewer to make the architectural connections.

In Hoelscher's photographs, the urban landscape expresses "disorder and order, grandeur or devastation, and oppression or dynamism." Says Hoelscher: "In my work I show how I experience the dense symbolic terrain of the city."

Hoelscher resides in Forest Park, Ill., where she is an assistant professor of photography at Massachusetts College of Art. Her photographs have been exhibited internationally and have been shown through out the United States.

Diana Jacobs presents a series of small hand colored etchings, titled "Views & Edges." These prints were produced out of Jacobs' fascination with the rural landscape. Through her work and travels, she seeks out the obscure and unobserved areas and then re-describes these areas through her etchings.

Jacobs states: "There is an exhilaration about flight that lifts the soul as much as the body. My first experience in a hot air balloon was over the Loire Valley in France. It was a point of view where the horizon disappeared and the sky and the land became one. My fascination with the landscape grew."

A resident of Los Angeles, Calif., Jacobs has focused in the last 15 years on her studio work. Her mixed media and print work has been internationally exhibited and shown through out the United States.

The exhibit is free and open to the public. Free parking is available in the North Parking Lot directly across the street from the HFA building.

Through personal and academic discovery, the University of Minnesota, Morris provides opportunities for students to grow intellectually, engage in community, experience environmental stewardship and celebrate diversity. A renewable and sustainable educational experience, Morris prepares graduates for careers, for advanced degrees, for lifelong learning, for work world flexibility in the future, and for global citizenship. Learn more about Morris at morris.umn.edu or call 888-866-3382.