MPIRG to host renewable resources teach-in

Summary:

(November 6, 2003)-The University of Minnesota, Morris student organization MPIRG (Minnesota Public Interest Research Group) will sponsor a teach-in about renewable resources from 5 to 6 p.m. Monday, Nov. 17, in the Prairie Lounge of the UMM Student Center.

Gregory Cuomo, head of the West Central Research and Outreach Center, and Lowell Rasmussen, associate vice chancellor for physical plant and master planning at UMM, will discuss wind energy and the biomass project.

The public is invited to attend this free event.

Through personal and academic discovery, the University of Minnesota, Morris provides opportunities for students to grow intellectually, engage in community, experience environmental stewardship and celebrate diversity. A renewable and sustainable educational experience, Morris prepares graduates for careers, for advanced degrees, for lifelong learning, for work world flexibility in the future, and for global citizenship.
