4th Annual Instructional Technology Institute

Summary:

(July 11, 2003)-The fourth annual Instructional Technology Institute (ITI) will be offered August 5-6 at the University of Minnesota, Morris. The Institute's workshops for K-12 educators involve hands-on training in current instructional technologies and tools. These include digital video, multimedia, classroom applications, on-line learning tools, photo image editing, digital cameras, personal digital assistants, publication production, web design, and more.

ITI is sponsored by the UMM offices of Continuing Education, Computing Services, Media Services, Division of Education, and NTNT (New Teachers, New Technology) Grant along with SHOT (Southwest/West Central Higher Education Organization for Telecommunications). For more information, contact Karen Johnson at 320-589-6461 or johnsokm@mrs.umn.edu or visit the ITI website: www.mrs.umn.edu/ITI/.

Through personal and academic discovery, the University of Minnesota, Morris provides opportunities for students to grow intellectually, engage in community, experience environmental stewardship and celebrate diversity. A renewable and sustainable educational experience, Morris prepares graduates for careers, for advanced degrees, for lifelong learning, for work world flexibility in the future, and for global citizenship.
