May Session offers China experience

Summary: Share the adventures of 20 UMM students as they blog their three-week trek across China during the May Session course, Chinese Language and Culture. May Session is a special three-week session that begins immediately after Spring Semester.

(May 17, 2006)-Share the adventures of 20 University of Minnesota, Morris students as they blog their three-week trek across China during the May Session course, Chinese Language and Culture. Students will learn how to ask for directions in Mandarin when they are lost, master the fine art of eating with chopsticks, and hike the Great Wall of China. Some of the stops along the way will include the cities of Beijing, Shanghai, Jiashan and Xi'an. To experience with students their once-in-a-lifetime adventure, link to the blog at chinatrip.

Students are accompanied by Jennifer Falzerano who coordinates the Chinese Exchange Program at UMM, and Mimi Frenier, UMM professor emerita of East Asian history.

The May Session is a special three-week session that begins immediately after Spring Semester ends at UMM. The Session is designed to provide exciting opportunities for faculty and students to participate in unique courses and other learning experiences offered in a short, concentrated time frame.
