MORRIS (3/15/76) -- The University of Minnesota, Morris theatre production "Bierce Takes on the Railroad!" is not among seven regional finalist selected to perform in the National American College Theatre Festival in Washington, April 5-10.

Director George C. Fosgate, who received word from the American Theatre Festival last week, said that "it was apparently a difficult decision for them to make.

"Due to a smaller budget this year, only seven plays were invited to participate in the Washington Festival rather than the expected 10. No plays from this region were invited."

"Bierce Takes on the Railroad!" was one of 52 productions selected from approximately 350 throughout the nation to become a regional finalist.

Others from this region include Mankato State, Northern State College in Aberdeen, S.D., and the University of South Dakota-Vermillion.
