ATHENS, Ga. (5/24/76) -- Doug Dufty, head wrestling coach and assistant professor of education at the University of Minnesota, Morris, has been initiated into Kappa Delta Pi, a national honor society in education.

Dufty, on sabbatical leave from UMM for the past year to complete work on his doctorate, was accepted into the University of Georgia chapter here recently where he is completing his studies.

The society works for high professional, intellectual and personal standards in education, and requirements for membership include outstanding personal qualities and sound scholarship.

Dufty also was selected recently to serve as an official at the Georgia State High School Wrestling Championships.

The son of Gene and Florence Dufty of Willmar, he and his wife, Karen, and children expect to return to Morris in late August in time to assist with the Cougars' fall football drills.
