Careers in Biology Continues

The Careers in Biology Alumni Speaker Series will welcome Dr. Samit Joshi ’01 to campus on Thursday, September 19, at 7 p.m. in Science 2950 (Auditorium). The title of Joshi’s presentation is “Attempting to Build a Career in Infectious Diseases: Between the Bench and the Bedside. He will also present a classroom research talk, “Innate Immunology in HIV Infection,” Friday, September 20, at 9:15 a.m. in Science 2190. Joshi received a doctor of osteopathy and master of public health from Des Moines University in 2005 and completed his postdoctoral training at the Yale University School of Medicine in New Haven, Connecticut. He currently works as the associate medical director of global research and virology at Bristol-Myers Squibb, a clinical instructor at the Yale School of Medicine, and a consultant at Waterbury Hospital. Careers in Biology is supported in part by a grant to the University of Minnesota, Morris from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute through the Precollege and Undergraduate Science Education Program.

Café Scientifique Resumes

Peter Wyckoff, associate professor of biology, will present the next Café Scientifique discussion on Tuesday, September 24, at 6 p.m. at Common Cup Coffeehouse (501 Atlantic Avenue, Morris, MN 56267). The title of Wyckoff’s talk is “The impact of climate, deer, earthworms, and the invasive European buckthorn tree on the forests of western Minnesota.” Café Scientifique is an ongoing series that offers a space where anyone can come to explore the latest ideas in science and technology for the price of a cup of coffee. Meetings take place outside of a traditional academic context and are committed to promoting public engagement with science. Additional information is available online. Interested audiences can look forward to additional discussions typically on the last Tuesday of selected months in 2013 and 2014. Café Scientifique is supported in part by a grant to the University of Minnesota, Morris from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute through the Precollege and Undergraduate Science Education Program.

Essential Deadline is Today

Wednesday, September 11, is the essential deadline for the fall semester. It is the last day to add classes, change from S/N or A/F grading, drop classes without a “W” on the transcript (except second-half semester classes), and update health plan coverage information for billing purposes. It is also the deadline to submit degree applications for students finishing in fall 2013. Students should be registered for all of their semester classes, including directed studies, independent research, and internships. Additional information is available online.

U of M Employee Benefit Counselor Visit

Barry Melcher, U of M Employee Benefit Counselor, will be on campus on Friday, September 20. Faculty and staff are invited to speak individually with Melcher regarding employee benefit issues and questions. Please contact Jenny Quam to schedule your individual appointment.
