Annual Community of Scholars event to bring 200 prospective students to Morris

Summary: The campus will welcome more than 200 prospective students from across the United States for a competitive scholarship event in February 2011.

(February 4, 2011)-The University of Minnesota, Morris will welcome approximately 200 students and their families to campus on February 4–5, 2011, for the Fifth Annual Community of Scholars event. The students invited have already been offered admission and will be competing for the Morris campus’s most prestigious competitive scholarships, the Prairie Scholars Award and the Morris Scholars Award.

Students from Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Dakotas and Illinois, as well as those from Texas, Colorado, Connecticut, Hawaii, Montana, New Mexico and Arizona have been invited to the event. In addition to vying for a top scholarship, the event will provide opportunities for the candidates to connect with other scholarship finalists, to interact with current students, to engage with faculty and staff, and to experience the University of Minnesota, Morris campus in-depth. Tours of the Morris community are also planned for students and their families.

The Prairie Scholars Award is awarded based on an exemplary academic and leadership record. The award is a full-tuition scholarship and is renewable for four years with a total value of more than $32,000.

The Morris Scholars Award is awarded based on an outstanding academic and leadership record. Recipients of the Morris Scholars Award will receive a $5,000 per year scholarship, renewable for four years, for a total value of $20,000. In addition, the Morris Scholars Award carries a one-time $2,500 scholarly stipend that may be used during the second, third or fourth year at UMM to engage in an eligible scholarly experience (e.g., to study abroad, to participate in research or artistic projects or for travel to academic conferences).
