11-3-2008

El Dia de los Muertos celebrated

University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.morris.umn.edu/urel_news

Recommended Citation
http://digitalcommons.morris.umn.edu/urel_news/1201

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the External Relations at University of Minnesota Morris Digital Well. It has been accepted for inclusion in University Relations News Archive by an authorized administrator of University of Minnesota Morris Digital Well. For more information, please contact skulann@morris.umn.edu.
El Dia de los Muertos celebrated

Summary: The United Latinos at the University of Minnesota, Morris celebrated "Day of the Dead" ("El Día de los Muertos") with an altar display in the Cougar Room of Oyate Hall. In addition to the altar, information about the tradition and its origins was on hand.

(November 3, 2008)-The United Latinos at the University of Minnesota, Morris celebrated "Day of the Dead" ("El Día de los Muertos") with an altar display in the Cougar Room of Oyate Hall. In addition to the altar, information about the tradition and its origins was on hand.

The Day of the Dead is a holiday celebrated primarily in Mexico and by people of Mexican heritage living in the United States and Canada. The holiday focuses on gatherings of family and friends to pray for and remember friends and relatives who have died. The celebration traditionally occurs on November 1 and 2, in connection with the Catholic holy days of All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day which take place on those days. Traditions include building private altars honoring the deceased, using sugar skulls, marigolds and the favorite foods and beverages of the departed as well as visiting graves with these as gifts.

Photo by Alex McGreavey, External Relations photographer

Through personal and academic discovery, the University of Minnesota, Morris provides opportunities for students to grow intellectually, engage in community, experience environmental stewardship and celebrate diversity. A renewable and sustainable educational experience, Morris prepares graduates for careers, for advanced degrees, for lifelong learning, for work world flexibility in the future, and for global citizenship. Learn more about Morris at morris.umn.edu or call 888-866-3382.