Tlen-Huicani is next Performing Arts Series event

Summary: Tlen-Huicani will bring the traditional folk music of Veracruz, Mexico to the University of Minnesota, Morris Edson Auditorium February 24 as a part of the 2006-2007 Performing Arts Series.

(February 13, 2007)-Tlen-Huicani will bring the traditional folk music of Veracruz, Mexico to the University of Minnesota, Morris Edson Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 24, as a part of the 2006-2007 Campus Activities Council Performing Arts Series.

Tlen-Huicani, which means "the singers" in the indigenous Indian language of Nahuatl, has taken the beautiful "harpa jarocha" or folk harp, and has made it the centerpiece of their music. Founded in 1973, Tlen-Huicani has been honored by the Union of Music and Theater Critics as the best folk group in Mexico. Maestro Alberto de la Rosa is considered among the most outstanding folk harpist in the world, and the ensemble features all manner of folk harps, along with guitars, two-stringed violins and lush vocals. Renaldo Migaldi of the Chicago Reader describes the experience that Tlen-Huicani brings to the audience, "rich-throated vocalists harmonize on lushly melodic motifs and it's enough to make you want to float off into the almond-scented ether."

The Quartetto Gelato is the next to perform in the Performing Arts Series at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 21, also in Edson Auditorium.

Ticket information for the Performing Arts Series is available by calling the Office of Student Activities at UMM, (320) 589-6080.
